

Xeni Leousi

Xeni Leousi is a member of our trainee team.

She holds a Bachelor's degree in Law from the Democritus University of Thrace. During her academic studies, she developed a strong interest in legal research and writing, actively contributing to the student legal journal Ypagogi of ELSA Komotini, where she served first as Editorial Board Member and later as Publisher.

Xeni further enriched her academic background by attending the Salzburg Summer School on European Private Law at Paris-Lodron Universität Salzburg, having been awarded a tuition scholarship for her excellent academic performance.

She is primarily involved in litigation matters, undertaking legal research, translations, and the drafting and filing of legal documents.
